AN EDITORIAL

QUITE a neat dodge the federal district attorney for New York and the federal judges here have worked up in the case of the indicted Communist leaders, isn't it?

Just by indictment, these leaders are paralyzed as far as the political campaign is concerned, since they are barred by the terms of the court from moving out of the area covered by it.

Now an indictment proves nothing. If you are indicted, it does not mean that you have committed a crime. You still have to be tried before you can be charged with guilt.

But you can be quite thoroughly removed from the arena of national politics right plumb in the middle of a major election campaign, if the decision of the judge in the case of William Z. Foster, Eugene Dennis and Henry Winston is allowed to stand.

This is what has happened to these three leaders of the Communist Party, despite the fact that the Party is vitally concerned with the outcome of the election campaign.

If it can be done to Communist leaders today, it can be done to Progressive Party candidates and leaders tomorrow, and even to Democrats the day after tomorrow. It is not hard to get people indicted even if you don't have the evidence to convict.

It is not surprising that it is being called into use now. Suppression has been a keynote of this election campaign, as witness the way the Progressive Party is being denied the ballot in one state after another.

The court should not be allowed to get away with this stunt. Get in touch with Attorney General Tom Clark and District Attorney John F. X. McGohey, and insist the restriction on the right to travel placed upon the Communist leaders be lifted.

New Jersey Truck Drivers Join Strike

The largest teamsters' union in New Jersey, local 478, voted unanimously yesterday to join the five-day-old strike of almost 10,000 New York truckers. The 3,500 members of the local, who do not have contracts, were scheduled to strike at midnight. Their demands were adopted at a meeting Friday, and call for a 15-cent hourly wage increase plus anything above that figure that local 807 receives, sickness and accident insurance of $25 a week for 26 weeks and a clause providing that only local 478's drivers may pick up and deliver within a 35-mile radius of Newark.

Another 1,200 members of the local are covered by contracts.

It was expected that, in line with tradition, other Jersey locals would follow 478's action. A total of 20,000 truckers would be involved in the strike, according to estimates. Members of local 807 and 816 were supporting it.

REJECT 2-YEAR PACT

Leo F. Carlin, local 478 president, revealed that the membership had rejected a two-year contract proposal by the Independent Truck Owners of Newark, who employ about 1,000 of the local's membership. The truck owners had asked for a two-year contract instead of the usual one-year, in exchange for granting all demands.

The union, Carlin said, will not wait for a master contract with the Associated express and Truck Owners of New Jersey, 43 members of which employ about 75 percent of the union's membership. He said the union would be willing to sign individual contracts with the owners, but the 43 members of the employers' group have pledged they will not sign individual contracts until after a joint meeting tomorrow.

Tomorrow the area-wide committee of employers will announce its decision on Local 807's "rock bottom" demands, which were submitted Friday and center around

Soviets Ask Big 4 Meet on Italy Colonies

LONDON, Monday, Sept. 6 (UP).—Russia has formally asked the United States, Britain and France to convene a Big Four Foreign Minister's conference on Italy's pre-war colonies before Sept. 5, Radio Moscow reported early today.

The broadcast said Soviet ambassadors in Washington, London and Paris delivered notes to the three governments Saturday, saying that:

"The Soviet government deems it necessary, prior to the expiration of the term envisaged in the (Italian) peace treaty—Sept. 15—to consider in the Foreign Ministers' Council the question of former Italian colonies in the order established by the peace treaty."

Unless the colonies' question has been decided by the Big Four by mid-September, the treaty requires that the issue be referred to the United Nations General Assembly, which meets in Paris Sept. 21.

Deputies of the Big Four council were unable to agree on disposition of Italy's African territories. After months of conferences, the deputies submitted a divided report to their respective governments Aug. 31.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (UP).—The State Department said tonight it has not yet received a formal Russian request for a Big Four foreign ministers meeting on Italy's African colonies.

Press officer Michael J. McDermott said the department "will have no comment" until the Soviet invitation is received officially.

Oust U. S. Consul As Spy in Bulgaria

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 5.—An official announcement published in Sofia newspapers today said Donald F. Ewing, American vice-consul in Sofia, was recalled from his post after Bulgarian authorities found he was engaged in espionage.

The announcement said Ewing was trapped on a Sofia street while getting important espionage information from two Bulgarians. It said U. S. Minister Donald Read Heath was advised of Ewing's activities and had him recalled.

Sofia newspapers carried the announcement under the headline "American Diplomat caught in Espionage." The statement said the "opposition anti-people's group of Nicholas Petkov" had given Ewing "information of a military, economic and political character representing state secrets."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—The State Department disclosed today U. S. Vice Consul Donald F. Ewing had left his post in Sofia, Bulgaria, as a result of a Bulgarian spy charge which the department claimed was "a transparently fabricated maneuver."

The disclosure came shortly after Sofia newspapers published an official Bulgarian announcement of Ewing's recall.

(The official register of the U. S. Department lists Ewing as a graduate of Dartmouth College and the University of Innsbruck, Austria. He was an instructor in the American College in Bulgaria from 1931 to 1935, and was appointed to the foreign service and assigned to Sofia as vice consul Jan. 9, 1947.

Force New French Gov't to Give $8 Bonus

PARIS, Sept. 5.—Premier Robert Schuman today announced formation of a government.

After its first three-hour meeting at the Hotel Matignon, the premier's residence, the new cabinet disclosed a bonus of 2,500 francs (about $8) will be paid to all workers in private industry no later than Saturday. The bonus is a partial victory for the French trade union movement.

The announcement promised the bonus will "not prejudice other wage measures to come." The bonus is roughly equivalent to the monthly increase in the legal minimum wage demanded by both Communist and non-Communist workers.

A communique said the cabinet granted the bonus to halt the spreading wave of token walkouts which officials feared would mushroom into a nationwide labor stoppage.

Earlier the Socialists had joined Schuman's cabinet, taking over four key cabinet posts—finance and economics, labor, interior, and commerce and industry.

Socialist agreement to join the cabinet forecast probably abandonment of the government's severe economic policy, and the granting of concessions to organized labor. Both Communist and non-Communist labor has threatened national strikes unless given 33 percent wage boosts.

Throngs View Benes' Body

SEZIMOVO USTI, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 5.—Thousands of Czechs today viewed the body of former President Eduard Benes, who died Thursday.

The mourners moved slowly in a line which stretched four abreast for two miles from Benes' country home on the edge of Sezimovo Usti, 60 miles south of Prague.

Benes died at his villa here after a long illness. Tomorrow and Tuesday his body will lie in state at Prague. The government has arranged a state funeral for Wednesday and Benes will be buried in the garden of his home, here on Friday.

Police said at least 25,000 persons had arrived by mid-morning. All highway traffic was stopped and the mourners had to walk the last three miles to Benes' villa.

Ernst Tells Un-Americans How to Break Bill of Rights

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—The House Un-American Activities Committee today studied a New York law as a possible weapon to force government employees to answer questions on political affiliation. The New York statute prohibits state employees from refusing to answer questions by a Grand Jury or a legislative committee on the grounds that their reply might be "self-incriminating." It was called to the committee's attention by Morris Ernst of the American Civil Liberties Union.

MOSCOW STUDENTS HIT BIAS AT OKLAHOMA UNIVERSITY

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Radio Moscow said today Moscow University students have sent a letter of protest to students of Oklahoma University concerning the barring of a Negro girl from the Oklahoma University Law School.

The broadcast, quoting a Tass dispatch, said the Soviet students wrote that "we cannot conceive of national inequality or oppression in our country, which is one friendly family."

Rep. Richard M. Nixon (R-Calif.) a committee member, said the proposal is "under study." He added, however, that the law cannot be made retroactive. "The witnesses who refused to answer our questions already have left the Government," he said.

But he said such a law might be invoked in the future, and hinted he favored one that would apply to all persons, not just Government employees.

Nixon said the committee is determined to test that theory in the case of Alexander Stevens.

The Senate's special investigating committee headed by Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) meantime declared that President Truman's "loyalty" program had been a failure. The committee proposed immediate disclosure by agency heads of all derogatory information about employees. It also demanded separation of the Loyalty Review Board from the Civil Service Commission.

Youth in Capital Fight Jimcrow Pools

By Rob F. Hall

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—The recently organized local chapter of the Young Progressives of America has found itself up to its neck in a full-fledged battle.

These young people have set out to end segregation in the city-owned swimming pools and playgrounds in the capital of the United States. They have been pushed around by cops and stoned by local representatives of Dixiecrat mentality.

It all began several weeks ago, according to pretty, 20-year-old Nonny Lautman, during one of the city's worst heat waves. Although a third of Washington's million population are Negroes, of the city's 11 public swimming pools, only three are open to Negro children. The YPA set up a committee against discrimination with Nonny as chairman, and Bill McGriff, 20, a Negro food worker, as vice-chairman.

The committee laid out its strategy. It picked the Rosedale playground and swimming pool to begin with.

The park lies in a Negro neighborhood, surrounded on three sides by Negro homes. When white children come to Rosedale to swim, Negro children can hang on the fence and perhaps get slightly damp from the splashing of their more fortunate fellows. But they can't go in.

WEEK OF PREPARATION

Nonny, Bill and the rest of the committee spent a week in preparation, distributing leaflets among both white and Negro in the neighborhood announcing that on Saturday, Aug. 28, the YPA would be on hand in an effort to force open the doors (figuratively) of the Rosedale pool.

Saturday came and some 500

22 INDICTED FOR BATTLING JIMCROW

BALTIMORE, Sept. 5.—Twenty-two Young Progressives who had flaunted the city park board's Jim-crow regulations today were under a grand jury indictment on charges of "conspiracy."

Progressive Party leaders, Dr. J. E. T. Camper and James Stewart Martin promised a fight up to the Supreme Court.

The 22 were arrested July 11 when they played mixed tennis matches in segregated Druid Hill Park. Squads of police broke up the matches.

The grand jury indictments charged the 22 with conspiring to riot, disturbing the peace, obstructing free passage, interfering with police, intimidating and resisting the police.

Twelve of the indicted players were white, ten were Negro.

Negro children clad in bathing trunks and carrying their water-wings and rubber animals gathered at the barrier of the park. They hung on the fence, laughing and hopeful.

Nonnie and Bill, with a committee of nine Negro and nine white youth marched to the gate, and told Russell Violett, the custodian they wanted to swim. Violett said "You the n-----s."

Nonny told Violett there was no law to keep Negroes out, that he had no legal right, let alone moral right, to bar them. But Violett said he had his orders.

The Young Progressives then threw their picket line around the park and paraded shouting "Jim-crow must go!"

"Who's Jimcrow?" a little white

TWU's Nat'l Board Rejects Truman, 19-5; Rebukes Quill

100 MILLION LEAVE HOME TO CELEBRATE LABOR DAY

CHICAGO, Sept. 5 (UP).—Americans celebrated the long Labor Day holiday as seldom before today, but the toll of violent deaths appeared to be lagging behind that of an average week end.

A United Press survey showed 135 persons have been killed since Friday night in the final summer holiday. The toll included 92 traffic fatalities, 11 drownings and 32 deaths from miscellaneous mishaps.

Traffic officials estimated 100,000,000 Americans were away from home, seeking a last fling at resorts, fishing streams and other vacation spots. Millions of cars were on the streets and highways.

Safety officials feared, however, the holiday toll would rise later when vacationers hurry home. The National Safety Council has predicted a traffic toll of 200 deaths.

The international executive board of the CIO Transport Workers voted yesterday, by an overwhelming majority of 19 to 5 to reject "Harry Truman as a candidate for the presidency of the United States in 1948." In the same resolution the TWU board also declared it "repudiates the pro-Truman vote of its international president (Michael J. Quill), in the CIO Executive Board."

Truman, Dewey Electioneer In AFL Paper

President Truman and Governor Dewey Saturday vied with each other for AFL support in Labor Day messages specially written for the American Federationist, AFL official organ.

The President claimed credit to the Democratic Party for all the advances labor made under the late President Roosevelt, and the New Deal, while Dewey red-baited in every other paragraph.

Truman's main fire, however, was aimed at the "party that passed the Taft-Hartley Act upon working people over my veto..." but he omitted his refusal to speak out against the bill until it was assured of passage.

Dewey avoided mention of the Taft-Hartley attack on labor unions. Instead, he attacked a former New Dealer by declaring "the New National Administration... will never make the mistake of assuming that men like Lee Pressman speak for the American working man." Pressman is now a Progressive Party Congressional candidate in Brooklyn.

Dewey alleged that "there is no class legislation on the statute books of New York," obviously seeking to

It also charged Quill "did not consult with either the IEB or the various locals throughout the country in committing the Transport Workers Union to an endorsement of Truman."

The TWU based its rejection of Truman on the fact that "we cannot support a candidate who has proven himself to be the biggest strikebreaker of any President in American history." The transit union board expressed "shock and disappointment" at the CIO national board's endorsement of Truman "despite its full knowledge of his anti-labor record."

Those voting against the resolution rejecting Truman were, Quill, Faber, Frank O'Connor, Andrew Kaeln and Richard Downs.

HITS LOCAL 100'S BOARD

The TWU board also condemned, at its Saturday meeting, the action of Local 100's executive board in ordering certain of its officers to resign from positions in the American Labor Party. The Local 100 action was "unwarranted and illegal interference with the political freedom of said members and should be rescinded," said the international board's resolution.

Other actions by the international board included: recommendation to hire in publicity posts Will Quaytman and Hal Poritz, discharged last week as editor and associate editor of Local 100's Transport Voice; approval of a membership referendum to determine whether international officers shall be elected by direct, secret ballot instead of by convention as heretofore; selection of a five-man committee to arrange for $250 life insurance policies for all union members, to be paid for by the international.

After the 5½-hour board meeting at the Hotel Piccadilly, Quill went through his usual red-baiting motions, then alibied that the TWU board majority was misled on his pro-Truman vote because it read "only the Daily Worker." Quill's vote at the CIO Board meeting, he said, was for the "whole CIO legislative program."

Pressed by a reporter to answer "did you or did you not vote for Truman?" Quill said he had done so "only on the condition that the membership backs me." He said he would "submit" his vote to the TWU membership, but did not indicate how he would cancel his pro-Truman vote, should the membership of the union uphold the international board's rejection of Truman.

Quill's claim of "conditional" support for Truman in the CIO board was not borne out by the record. Press reports made it a point to emphasize Quill's backing for Truman in contrast to his vote last January when he was one of those opposing the CIO's anti-third party resolution.

QUILL RED-BAITS

Quill attributed the anti-Truman resolution to "Communists" on the board. He said he was calling a

Murray-Reuther Forces Disrupt, Split Detroit CIO

By William Allan

DETROIT, Sept. 5.—A scene that recalled the goon seizure tactics of Homer Martin, years ago, in the United Auto Workers, was re-enacted here last night when Adolph Germer, acting on orders of CIO President Murray, organized a rump meeting of dissident CIO elements and named them "the official convention" of Wayne County CIO.

This was done while the second annual convention of the Wayne County CIO was recessed Saturday night till this morning at 10:30 a.m. Officers and delegates of the convention, learning of the split instigated by Germer, sought entry to the rump gathering, but were barred by goon squads supplied by the Reuther caucus in the UAW. The Daily Worker reporter was also barred from entry.

Germer's desperate action, on telegraphic orders of Murray, followed a futile attempt to use Reuther's goons to take over the regular convention by sheer physical force. This culminates a campaign of months duration of fruitless blackjacking of the CIO council here to put it on record for the Marshall war plan and support of Truman.

Every type of disruption known to the Germer-Murray-Reuther seizure crews was used but was beaten down by delegates to the convention who, from the floor and personally to Germer, insisted that the rank and file run CIO and not edicts from Murray, Reuther and Germer.

This battle went on for two days and nights and finally late Saturday night, Germer, realizing the hopelessness of capturing the convention by goon tactics, organized a march of his followers out of the convention hall following a recess.

Germer had sought for 2 days to seat 100 some Reuther rightwing followers, principally from Reuther's home local, 174-UAW. The credentials committee of the convention declared that, after failure of nine Reuther-controlled locals to pay any per capita tax for more than a year, the only way they could be seated as regular delegates would be by paying the per capita they owed.

Germer, in an effort to seat the 100 Reutherite delegates and in that way take over the convention demanded in the name of CIO President Murray, that these 100 delegates be seated with full voting power on the basis of paying only one month per capita tax to the convention and three months to national CIO to be held in escrow.

This was rejected by the credentials committee. It proposed in order to prevent Germer leading a march out of the convention that the nine locals involved be seated with one delegate from each local. This was put to a referendum vote and, while the vote was being counted, Germer organized the rump meeting, without waiting for the results of the convention vote.

At the rump meeting, packed mostly with goons and a hundred some delegates, some of whom admitted later they were intimidated into attending, Germer waved as his "authority" for the meeting a telegram from CIO President Murray ordering Germer to seize all possessions, assets, offices and records and the convention if the 100 dissident elements were not seated.

At the closing session of the regular Wayne County CIO convention this morning, Richard Leonard, onetime progressive in the UAW sought, with aid of the Trotskyites, to pass a motion in the name of "practicality and logic" to adjourn the regular convention into Germer's rump meeting.

This was roundly defeated and

UE Reports Gains in Wages, Members on Eve of Convention

A six percent growth in membership and wage gains aggregating $104,000,000 annually was recorded by the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers for the past year as delegates prepared for this morning's opening of the union's 13th annual convention in Manhattan Center. Further wage gains, amounting to $33,000,000 are still being completed in negotiations, the union announced.

The announcement was made by the UE's three top officers—President Albert J. Fitzgerald, secretary-treasurer Julius Emspak and Organization Director James J. Matles.

About a thousand delegates representing 400 local unions in 29 states and Canada with some 600,000 workers under UE 1,501 contracts, will attend.

DIFFICULT YEAR

The past year—also the first Taft-Hartley year—was a very difficult one the officers noted, in announcing the gains.

"In no period of our existence as a union did we have such tremendous problems confronting our membership," the ysaid.

"The vicious Taft-Hartley Board harassed organized labor with injunctions, damage suits, unfair labor charges, decertification petitions and all other anti-labor instruments embodied in the Taft-Hartley Law."

They also noted that the gains were made despite a drop of employment of 42,000 in the industry. The present membership of the UE is at "all-time high"—8 percent above the strength of a year ago.

During the period, 120,213 new members signed up in the UE—

38,000 of them veterans. Eighty-seven plants were brought under contracts for the first time.

WON OTHER GAINS

The union was able to gain substantial improvements in its contracts on other phases.

Ninety-one percent of the workers under UE contracts have six or more paid holidays a year compared to 84 percent last year. Contracts for 350 plants covering 143,000 workers provided more than six holidays.

Vacations for three weeks after 20 years now cover 306,000 workers compared to 246,000 last year. In 123 contracts a third week is given after 10 or 15 years.

Anti-discrimination clauses on account of sex, creed, color or race are now included in 761 contracts covering 210,000 workers.

Wallace Southern Tour Ends in Big Knoxville Meet

By Abner W. Berry

Henry A. Wallace's seven-day southern tour ended on a triumphal note last Saturday in a Knoxville, Tenn., Negro Baptist church. After traveling in 28 cities of seven southern states, meeting in many places hostility and violence, Wallace addressed a cheering, applauding overflow audience which sat unsegregated in Knoxville's Mount Olivet Baptist Church. Five hundred persons jammed the main auditorium of the church and another 150 filled a basement room and listened to Wallace's speech over a loudspeaker. A few hundred others gathered in the street outside to listen through the open window.

When the Wallace party arrived at the church from Nashville by chartered bus at 6:40 p.m. (CDST) they found a picket line of three "States' Righters." Four Negro Wallace supporters manned a counter-picket. Among the slogans carried by the white supremacists was the frankly stated: "Jimcrow must stay—Wallace must go!" and the pat Dixiecrat battle cry: "Dixie stands for America—not Russia!"

The Negro counter-pickets' signs said: "Jimcrow must go!" and "We Want Wallace!" The pickets walked silently before the church and no atmosphere of tension was created, the Dixiecrat pickets drawing derisive laughter from the crowd—mostly Negro—standing in the street. Uniformed policemen and State Troopers stood by but did little more than direct traffic.

GETS OVATION

Wallace, after being greeted with an ovation upon his introduction, said in a solemn tone: "I am glad in this concluding meeting of my southern tour that I am speaking in the House of God. I hope that every word will help make this country the prosperous, beautiful land it ought to be."

Wallace added later:

"I want no division between North and South. I want no division between the black man and the white man of the South."

"I want the people of Tennessee to have an income twice as large as it now has. But Tennessee cannot have a doubled income unless it comes to black and white alike."

Dr. Clark Foreman, Progressive Party national treasurer, told the packed church that the 13th, 14th and 15th Amendments to the Constitution "are the basis of freedom in our country." "There are some men," he declared amid applause and shouts of approval, "who exclude these amendments when they speak of the Constitution. Any man who stands up and fights for the Constitution is bound to be branded as a Communist."

"FREEDOM MAN"

Dr. Foreman described Wallace as "the Freedom Man" whose party had organized an unsegregated meeting in Memphis, Tenn., less than a year after the Freedom Train was barred from that city because of official Jimcrow.

Earlier in the day Wallace addressed 1,500 persons from the steps of Nashville's War Memorial.

Members of Gov. Jim McCord's staff viewed the meeting and heard some of the speeches from the State House balcony.

Wallace told the friendly crowd, which frequently applauded his words, that he had learned about poll taxes and Jimcrow and how to fight them from two Alabama girls—the Foster sisters. One of them is now the wife of Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black and the other married a member of a conservative Alabama family—Clifford

The Triumph Of the Egg

KNOXVILLE, Miss., Sept. 4.—Henry Wallace was in good humor on Saturday as he wound up his Southern tour. He jotted down for reporters in his party the following on eggs and politics:

"As I wind up this Southern trip I want to say that I am expecting to see the day when, every year, chickens bred by the new methods originated by my son and myself will return to the South 10,000,000 eggs for every one we have received. I hope they will be used exclusively for food—not politics."

"It gives me great pleasure to think that chickens now living on my farm will have descendants which will increase the egg production of the South."

Hush Memphis Hecklers

Special to the Daily Worker

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 5.—For the first time in the modern history of Memphis a presidential candidate—Henry A. Wallace—addressed a non-segregated audience of more than 3,000 here last night. The meeting was held at 6:30 p.m. on the baseball diamond in Bellevue Park.

The audience, about half of whom were Negroes, silenced with their applause a small but noisy group of hecklers.

Wallace began by painting a picture of the "heaven on earth" the South could be if all of its people "pulled together — Negro and white —" to develop its human and natural resources. He spoke from a stand erected over the pitcher's mound, from which loud speakers carried his voice for blocks beyond the playing field. As he spoke the crowd increased.

During the meeting a number of photographers posed pictures of individual hecklers. The one pose asked for was the thumb-in-nose gesture.

At the mention of the word "unity," a jeering was set up, but this was quickly smothered by applause.

"Who's your black buddy up there?" a voice from the hecklers yelled. Wallace continued:

"Tennessee cannot get abundant markets in the world for its cotton unless it is realized that we are all brothers."

Boos and jeers again came from the hecklers. Three young white sailors standing near this reporter expressed disgust at the jeers.

"I wouldn't show my ignorance if I was as ignorant as those boys," one of them said.

Wallace's voice lowered after the jeering died down and he said with compassion: "We are all brothers —" only to be interrupted by a few rebel yells. He continued in a moment, "— and we all have a common Father." A continuous, high-pitched scream from the handful of would-be disrupters greeted this statement. The implied irreverence of the hecklers aroused the crowd and a wave of applause was set off that swept around the field, silencing them.

Dr. Clark Foreman, Progressive Party national treasurer, closed the meeting by restating the party's uncompromising position against Jimcrow. "The South is progressing," he said. Stassen Blast Opens Attack on Farmers

By Mel Fiske

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—There's more to the Republican-Democrat blame-calling contest over farm price supports than meets the headlines. Republican spokesman, Harold Stassen, after a conference with Gov. Tom Dewey last week, charged that price supports on farm products were the cause of high prices. Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan, on orders from President Truman, retorted they weren't. The newspapers jumped on the statements with chorales of glee over the first signs of political horn-locking.

But since Dewey and Stassen represent large basic sections of U.S. banks and trusts, the GOP attack on price supports foreshadows a new drive against the small farmers, and against consumers.

The price-support program, begun during the days of the New Deal, works this way: the government establishes a price level on farm products and offers cash loans to farmers. The farmers can accept the loans while waiting for a good market price.

If the market price is higher than the price set by the government support program, the farmer can return the loan and sell on the open market. If the price is lower, the farmer keeps the loan, and the government gets his produce.

GUARANTEED MINIMUM

The price to the farmer, therefore, is a guaranteed minimum. It establishes a price floor for the farmer.

Opposing the price-support program are the same bankers and industrialized farmers who support Dewey and his running mate, California's Gov. Earl Warren. Dewey is the darling of Chase National Bank in the East, and Warren is the unblinking stooge of A. P. Giannini's Bank of America and its 495 branches in the West.

Chase National Bank and the Bank of America have vast holdings in canneries, food processing, and dairy outfits, and large industrialized farms. They can corner the speculative grain and produce exchanges any time they want.

Without price supports they can control America's agriculture and its entire output. They can squeeze out the small farmers by forcing them to sell products at the lowest possible price. A few years of that and the small man is swallowed up by the big landholder.

But President Truman and his second-stringer, Brannan, didn't object to Dewey and Warren's idea of eliminating price supports. They had nothing to do with price supports, in the first place, they merely inherited it from Roosevelt's New Deal.

Teachers Union Hails Decision

The refusal of State Commissioner of Education Francis T. Spalding to permit the City Board of Education the right to reargue the appeal of a City College instructor who had been fired in an anti-Communist witch-hunt, was commended by the OIO Teachers Union. The ousted teacher, Francis J. Thompson, had appealed his discharge and he had been upheld by the State Department of Education.

While the decision leaves certain basic questions unresolved, the union declared, the commissioner's declaration about the vital importance of tenure will be hailed by all teachers who wholeheartedly subscribe to the view that the very object of tenure is to free teachers from the vicissitudes of prejudice, political maneuvering, petty criticisms, unsupported charges and the like, in order that they may do a better job in imparting instruction to our school children.

Gen. Feng Dies In Fire on Ship Going to USSR

MOSCOW, Sept. 5 (UP).—Marshal Feng yu-Hsiang, 68, deposed former deputy to Chiang kai-Shek, has been killed in a fire aboard a Soviet ship sailing from New York to Odessa, Russia, it was announced today.

Feng, famous Chinese "Christian general" who was purged for "disloyalty" by Chiang last January, sailed from New York aboard the steamer Pobeda early last month.

His daughter and others aboard the ship also were killed. Authorities said the fire broke out as the result of careless handling of motion picture films. The ship was towed into the Black Sea port of Odessa yesterday.

The Pobeda carried families of Soviet officials in the U. S., who were returning to Russia. She picked up 2,000 Armenians at Cairo, Egypt, and took them to Batumi, Russia, before sailing for Odessa on Aug. 31.

Feng was expelled from the Kuomintang central executive committee in China last Jan. 7, after pledging himself to the removal of Chiang kai-Shek as Chinese chief of state. His opposition was vigorous, despite the fact that he had served as Chiang's No. 1 deputy during World War II and had been sent to the United States by Chiang in 1946 to study water conservation methods.

Feng broke with Chiang over the continuation of the civil war and Chiang's failure to form a coalition government including Communists, the smaller democratic parties and liberal elements of the Kuomintang.

He opposed American aid to the Chinese government, contending the civil war would end if the assistance were halted.

Detroit Union Leaders Protest Indictment of 12

Special to The Worker

DETROIT, Sept. 5.—A Labor Day message to President Truman, in the Detroit News, signed by 29 union leaders, protests the indictment of the 12 National leaders of the Communist Party. The message called upon Truman, when he appears to address the Labor Day gathering, to take a positive stand to protect civil rights instead of persecuting political minorities.

To protect the civil liberties of all the people the civil rights of the Communists must be protected first as they are attacked, the union leaders declared.

They pointed out the indictment of the Communist National leaders did not charge them with any attempt to use "force and violence." The Supreme Court of the U. S. had already debunked that phony lie, it was stressed.

They therefore called on Truman to dismiss the indictments and uphold the right of the American voters to be the sole judges of the program of any political party, including the Communist Party.

The Soviet Union's School System

By Alexander Voznesensky

Minister of Education of the Russian Federation
MOSCOW.

THE SOVIET school aims at the all-round development of the individual, providing alike for the physical development of the young people and for their political education. In all subjects taught, there is the aim of instilling into the pupil the scientific approach, a scientific attitude.

All schools are equipped with apparatus for the teaching of elementary physics and chemistry. The sciences, and the teaching of history and literature, of Russian and foreign languages, and of geography, is equally looked upon as a part of science. Music, singing and drawing are taught at all our schools, in order to develop the esthetic tastes and abilities of the future Soviet citizens.

SOVIET SCHOOLS carry out a great deal of work out of class. This is conducted by means of various "circles"—scientific, technical, literary, dramatic, musical, natural history; and also by means of games, out-of-class reading, readers' conferences, debates, lectures and so forth.

Every pupil chooses the out-of-class activities in which he or she is interested. Associated with the schools in this work is a large network of non-school children's institutions.

In 1947-48, for example, the Russian Federation alone had 621 children's clubs, 289 young technicians' stations, 189 young naturalists' stations, 84 children's parks, 40 excursion-tourist centers.

A wonderful feature of the Soviet school is the unity between the school and the family. Parents' committees function at all schools. Parents frequently visit the schools. They maintain close contact with the teachers, and the home and school work together in bringing up the children. Teachers, too, regularly visit their pupils' homes, see the conditions under which they live and advise the parents.

THE SCHOOLS arrange lectures and talks for parents for child upbringing. Attached to many of our schools are so-called "parents' universities" where lectures on pedagogics, psychology, hygiene, medicine, and other subjects are given.

THE U.S.S.R. has a big system of vocational schools. These include trade and railway schools and factory apprentice schools. All young people, after completing elementary school, may be enrolled, and the term of tuition is two to three years, during which the pupils are entirely maintained by the State.

Boys and girls who have finished school may continue their education in specialized high schools as well as in the ordinary secondary schools. The term of tuition is three to four years, during which the pupils receive stipends and hostel accommodations.

ON GRADUATING, the young people are assigned to jobs at enterprises or institutions. However, if they wish, they may continue their education. Even while working in an office or factory, they can acquire higher education by taking special correspondence courses.

There are now 802 higher educational institutions in the U.S.S.R., with a student body of 670,000, more than all the countries of Europe taken together, and in the autumn, another 16 of them will be opened in various towns, including the Tajik State University in Stalinabad, the Higher River Transport School in Omsk, the Pedagogical Institute in Kaliningrad, the Theatrical Institute in Riga.

Higher education in the U.S.S.R. is accessible to all. This is ensured, first and foremost, by the fact that the Socialist State takes upon itself the greater part of the expenditure connected with the maintenance of the higher educational institutions.

The Soviet system of public education is a democratic one. It is accessible to the people and serves their interests alone.

Press Roundup

THE TIMES virtually admits the similarity of the two old parties, because a "foreign observer, studying the two platforms might be puzzled at the number of things of which both parties are in favor."

The Times is for a big American library in Germany, "stocked with the best in American thought..." because "we cannot convert others to our way of thinking by a full dinner pail alone."

THE HERALD-TRIBUNE brazenly interferes in the affairs of a labor union, the CIO United Electrical Workers, on behalf of CIO secretary James P. Carey, a red-baiter and former UE official, who recently testified before a Congressional Committee.

"A victory for Mr. Carey's followers in the forthcoming union election would end the need for any further investigation..." electioneers the Trib.

The Trib's Heptisax violently red-baits the Young Progressives of America, and agrees with the hysterical Rebecca West that the youth at the Progressive Party convention were "a singularly goofy and gullible lot..." The participation of American youth in the country's political life is, according to the apoplectic Heptisax, a Communist plot "through which they can keep on pumping the party line into the schools and colleges, where they have plenty of allies already..."

THE NEWS has prolonged editorial blurbs for two books, one by the Roosevelt-hater, John T. Flynn, and the other by the pro-fascist Charles A. Lindbergh. Flynn's book "is a cool and deadly analysis... of one of the most brilliant charlatans (as we see Roosevelt)..." the editors assert.

The News definitely likes Lindbergh's book which sees "Soviet Russia a greater menace to us than Germany ever was..."

THE MIRROR columnist Robert S. Allen reveals that a banker, Ferdinand Eberstadt, drew up the plan for armed service unification, which has been costly and marked by war among the brass-hats. Herbert Hoover has been appointed to investigate the mess, and Eberstadt, a former banking associate of Defense Secretary Forrestal, has turned up on the probe committee. The banker "has unique talents or connections," Allen concludes.

THE STAR columnist Jennings Perry prints "the only letter I've ever had from a Communist." The writer outlines in calm simple language his beliefs. Perry then declares he recently read a statement from a "mild-mannered teacher I once knew very well and respected highly. 'The Communist,' said this sage, 'stands before our social structure precisely like a murderer or a jungle beast.'"

"It made me think of the letter—which had been waiting around, I now realized to cushion just such an antithesis."

"I would like to vote for Wallace but I'm afraid that I would lose my job."

World of Labor

By George Morris

A Charlie McCarthy For General Electric

IT WAS on Sept. 2 that the House witch-hunt subcommittee headed by Rep. Charles Kersten listened to Jim Carey's finky tattle-tales on "Communism" in the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers. On that very morning the mail brought to editors of all newspapers, including ours, a letter from General Electric's vice-president L. R. Boulware, who is in charge of labor relations. Boulware writes:

"We have been recently rather startled to find—despite the number of times the subject has been covered in detail by others—that too many of our employees and their neighbors still did not understand the difference between the fundamental aims and accomplishments to date of the Communists and the capitalists."

So, to "clarify" their 200,000 employees and their "6.5 million neighbors" the company will post an inclosed placard headed "What Is Communism?" on all plant bulletin boards and insert it as an ad in newspapers.

"It will be particularly noted," cautions Boulware cynically, "that there is no reference or interference about political parties, labor unions or current candidates for office."

I NEED HARDLY add that GE's 2,000-word "enlightenment" on Communism is as full of lies, distortion, venomous falsehoods and slander as were ever packed into a statement of that size. In fact, I think the company has so overshot its barrage of slop that most normal-minded people will be repelled by it.

The more subtle part of the "enlightenment" purports to be a series of quotations from Communist literature but without giving the source. One sentence was familiar and we traced it to the Communist Manifesto of 1848. Boulware's quote: "The theory of the Communists may be summed up in the single sentence: abolition of private property." The idea was to bolster the general theme of the statement that under Communism you can't have anything your own.

Boulware simply left out the words "In this sense the theory of the Communists..." And he ignored the preceding paragraph explaining in what sense:

"The distinguishing feature of Communism is not the abolition of property generally, but the abolition of bourgeois property," said the manifesto of Marx and Engels. "But modern bourgeois private property is the final and most complete expression of the system of producing and appropriating products based on class antagonisms, on the exploitation of many by the few."

FOR SEVERAL PAGES, the Manifesto went on to denounce those who reproach Communists with "the desire of abolishing the right of personally acquiring property as the fruit of man's own labor," and to stress that the object is only to abolish private ownership of the means of production and distribution—to abolish the exploitation of the labors of others, and substitute social ownership of such means. Not social ownership of your car, house, furniture, farm or professional workshop or store, but property such as is controlled in the main by the larger companies and trusts.

Boulware isn't "startled" over an influx of GE workers into the Communist Party. The tremendous support for Wallace does worry him. He leaves it to the general hysteria to have Wallace's program identified as "Communism," and Communism as he describes it.

IT IS ALSO interesting that the war on Communism is assigned by GE to the labor relations department. The company is simply spreading the poison which its fifth-columnists in Jim Carey's camp could exploit.

It is not a coincidence that Kersten called his witch-hunt hearings four days before the UE's convention opened, with Carey the lead-off witness. Nor is it an accident that on that very morning the major electrical corporation let go a blast at "Communism."

The company is unable to have a company union now. But it would love to have the next thing to it—control of the union by Carey and his kind. And this darling of the corporations inside the CIO has the gall to tell the Kersten committee that the companies favor the Communists. We say more on that tomorrow.

Three Subverters

EVEN THOUGH our foreign policy has torpedoed world cooperation, as a nation we are still formally committed to the United Nations.

President Truman, Secretary of State Marshall and other spokesmen of our government continue to tip their hats to UN and to maintain it must be made to work.

As for the rest of us, we are still hopeful that UN will be a powerful force for peace, and insist that our government change its tack in order to make it so.

What then, should be said of a trio of State Department officials who deliberately and consciously try to undermine UN?

Certainly, they are guilty of subversion, both of formal U.S. policy and of the cherished desire of the great mass of Americans.

The State Department officials of whom we speak, Robert Alexander, William Harlow and R. Clyde Larkin, proclaimed loudly a few weeks ago, both to the press and to a Senate Committee, that "hundreds" of spies and fomenters of revolution were getting into the country in the guise of UN employees or representatives.

The pro-fascist press, which is anxious to destroy UN, immediately "went to town" on this. Like-minded congressmen sounded off. A full scale drive to create an anti-UN hysteria was under way.

Within the UN itself, and in various capitals, the charges produced bitter indignation, protest, and not a little questioning about the responsibility of Americans in world affairs. A lot of Americans were also sore and wanted action.

Mr. Truman and Secretary Marshall, who are for reasons of their own by no means ready to scrap UN, immediately set up a citizens committee to investigate the charges, as demanded by UN officials. Naturally, they found they were phony.

It is hardly likely, however, that the fomenters of these charges will be investigated for subversion by the Un-American Activities Committee or by the Truman Loyalty Board.

Their action was entirely in the spirit of the activities of these bodies. It was part of the fabric of spy scares and witch-hunts, and has the same aim, to wit, the destruction of all possible channels of peace and progress.

The charges were, in fact, used to further the spy scare activities of the Un-American Committee, all of which are precisely as baseless and phony.

Mike Quill on the Fare

IN USUAL demagogic fashion, Mike Quill is trying to put over a fast one on the transit workers.

In the name of wages, he is opposing the petition filed by the American Labor Party for a referendum to bring back the nickel fare. He threatens to knock it out on technicalities.

What he is neglecting to tell workers is that the petition, which must be voted on as a whole this November and which cannot be changed in any way, not only protects their wage increases, but writes into law the right of collective bargaining and improved working conditions.

It guarantees, in other words, much better labor standards than the workers have today, and is a highly important referendum in their behalf.

By opposing it, Quill is again placing his treacherous politics above the interests of the workers in the union and industry.

Georgia Primaries to Test Negro, White Voters' Unity

By Homer B. Chase

ATLANTA, Ga.

JUST AS IN early 1947, when the Herman Talmadge putsch took place, Georgia today is an important battleground between the forces of peace and democracy and the forces of war and fascism. The results of the Sept 8 Democratic primary and the Nov.

3 general election (over 1,000,000 registered voters are eligible to vote in both elections) will have an important and immediate effect on the future of the South and the nation. One hundred and fifty thousand Negro voters are included in that million and the coming elections will determine whether sufficient unity of Negro and white voters can be achieved not only to defeat the fascist Herman Talmadge but to break the one party dictatorship of the reactionary Democratic Party in Georgia.

Talmadge is desperate and he is waging a desperate campaign. His Wall Street masters are alarmed at the growing unity and voting strength of the Negro liberation movement. They are afraid of the increasing number of united actions by Negro and white workers, as for example, in the movement to free the Ingrams. They view with alarm the opposition to the barring of Negro students from the colleges—outspoken opposition by white student leaders. Above all they are afraid of the highest mass expression of these developments—the new People's Progressive Party of Georgia.

THE ELECTION of Talmadge would be tragic setback to all but the plantation owners and the Wall Street corporations which he represents. He is the fascist candidate of the Ku Klux Klan. He is the first candidate who has solicited their public endorsement, something his father Gene never dared to accept. His election would inaugurate a reign of terror against the Negro people, the labor movement, the third party and even against newspaper editors the Democratic politicians who have opposed him.

Talmadge is trying to make political hay by attacking the civil rights program. President Truman was forced to announce this program as a result of the growing militancy and strength of the Negro liberation movement. At the same time, he and his administration shrewdly launched a vicious attack on the Negro liberation movement by slandering the third party, by arresting Communist leaders and by hands off encouragement to the KKK. It is increasingly clear that Truman and Talmadge are two sides of a single coin as far as Negro liberation is concerned. They have accepted different assignments with the same objective—the continued segregation and oppression of the Negro people. Unfortunately many anti-Talmadge Negro and white middle class people who do not see Truman's role, tend to rely on his lying promises instead of on struggle. Thus, militant opposition to Talmadge is weakened.

Talmadge's main opposition in the primary is Gov. Thompson. Thompson's opposition is not complete by any means. There is too much agreement on such vital issues as the Imperialist bipartisan Marshall Plan, educational requirements for voting, the county unit system, state anti-labor laws, and opposition to the civil rights program.

Thompson has attacked Talmadge on his sales tax record, on the Talmadge putsch, and accused Talmadge of trying to win on a campaign of "racial hatred." In the Democratic primary there will be hundreds of thousands of voters who honestly believe that the only way to defeat Talmadge is by voting for Thompson on Sept. 8. They will be joined, according to state third party leaders, by Georgia Progressive forces who, without placing reliance on Thompson, nevertheless are urging his support in order to give the KKK a setback on Sept. 8, and to follow that with a real blow by voting for Progressive Party candidates on Nov. 2.

REV. JOE RABUN is an also-ran in the Democratic primary. He is using prestige as a former fighter against Talmadge to gain two reactionary objectives. First, he seeks to slow the growth of the new party by stating the myth that real progress can only be achieved in the ranks of the Democratic Party. Secondly, he seeks to split the anti-Talmadge vote in the primary. If Joe Rabun has any of the hatred for Talmadge that he still claims the only way to prove it is by withdrawing from the race before Sept. 2.

nightmare of Talmadge and reaction, so it is the hope of the common people of Georgia in '48. The campaign to put the new party on the ballot is finding ready response from the Negro and white workers in the state. The Wallace forces in Georgia are faced with an unconstitutional 5 percent law, which means getting signatures of 60,000 voters. Their state headquarters have announced that 30,000 signatures have been received and that they are aiming for a minimum of 100,000 by the Oct. 2, deadline. It is certain that the Democratic leaders will not be happy about this accomplishment and that they will pay little attention to the law unless the vast majority of the people of Georgia and the nation are reached on the importance of fighting for the end of the one party stranglehold on Georgia politics.

THE COMMUNIST PARTY of Georgia, though small in numbers, has played an important role in the realignment of political forces in favor of the people. We have recognized the historic import of the candidacy of Mr. Larkin Marshall of Macon, Negro candidate for the U.S. Senate. Marshall's candidacy, which is yet to be fully utilized, will not only strengthen the Wallace forces in Georgia and nationally, but it will bring closer the day of liberation for the oppressed Negro nation in the black belt. The campaign of the People's Progressive candidate for governor, Jim Barfoot is meeting with a generally favorable response as he tours the smaller cities and towns in north and central Georgia.

Georgia Communists have an important independent role to play in this election. We must fight for the right to radio time, in order that we can further develop and broaden the Ingram freedom movement. Above all we must, by further use of leaflets, etc., point out that the capitalist class nature of the Klan and Talmadge. We must find the way to build our own party in this campaign as a guarantee that the working class and the Negro people's liberation movement will move forward to peace, democracy, and Socialism.

Just as the third party is the Life of the Party

By Elizabeth Gurley Flynn
OLD COMMODORE

VANDERBILT, the founder of a financial dynasty, is quoted as saying: "To hell with the Constitution" when it interfered with his business. Gen. Sherman Bell of the U. S. Army said in reference to the miners' struggles in the western states, "To hell with habeas corpus. We'll give 'em post mortems." Kaiser Wilhelm was quoted as saying "me and Gott," and George Baer, president of the Reading Coal Co. said, during the anthracite strike in 1902: "God in his infinite wisdom gave the operators control of the mines." Added to all those in famous remarks of rampant reactionaries trampling on the rights of the people, comes the equally notorious Un-American Committee to add their contribution. In a recent interim report on their current "Spy Inquiry" they ask for the passage of the Mundt Bill, with some additions, dealing with "the new Communist tactics of evading detection and impeding the processes of legislative investigation through the unwarranted misuse of the protection which the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution rightly provides for those unjustly accused or those decent, patriot Americans who may at times find themselves required to defend themselves in a court of law."

And they go on to say: "The Communist Party is now accepted in all quarters as not being a political party but a conspiracy working for the overthrow of the government of the United States."

THIS IS a fascist combination of all the previous infamous remarks rolled into one. The Un-American Committee herein recommends that Communists are not entitled to Constitutional protection and that they are already judged guilty of the charges for which they have not as yet been tried, and that a law should be passed nullifying the fifth amendment to the Constitution.

Why not throw out the whole Bill of Rights and be done with it, Messrs. Thomas and Rankin? That would stop free speech, free press and assemblage for everybody who does not agree with you. It would legalize search and seizure and you could find anything you plant. It would end speedy and public trials by an impartial jury. Why bother when people are already "guilty?"

It would end trial by jury altogether, and the right to counsel. It would permit of excessive peril and cruel and unusual punishment. What fun you could have thinking it up!

It would re-institute slavery and deny voting citizenship to all Negroes and women in America. (What joy that would give Rankin and what a blow to Henry Wallace, who is strongly supported by Negroes and women who are for peace and democracy.

HERE IS the fifth Amendment to which the Un-American Committee objects. "Protection of Persons and Property," is its title. It reads: "No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury; except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor to be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without compensation."

The parts which I have emphasized are the parts this shameful Un-American Committee find a stumble block to their illegal inquisition. They are assuming the functions of arresting officers, grand jury, prosecuting attorney, complaining witnesses, judge and jury, and would like to be executioner. They are irked in their role by the Constitution of the U.S.A. in its Bill of Rights.

ARTICLE FIVE is one of the original 10 amendments which the revolutionary forefathers demanded. They were made a part of the Constitution Dec. 15, 1791 and for 157 years have stood to protect the civil liberties of the American people. True, they have been violated many times, but the American people have rallied to their defense on all such occasions.

Why stop with the Federal Constitution, Messrs. Rankin and Thomas? Somebody sent me a copy of the Constitution of the State of New Hampshire, where I was born. It has a Bill of Rights, too. Better get after Comrade O'Neill of the American Legion who allows this to go on under his nose! Article 10 reads as follows: title "Right of Revolution. Government being instituted for the common benefit, protection and security, of the whole community, and not for the private interest or emolument of any one man, family or class of men; therefore whenever the ends of government are perverted, and all other means of redress are ineffectual, the people may and of right ought, to reform the old, or establish a new government. The doctrine of non-resistance against arbitrary power and oppression, is absurd, slavish, and destructive of the good and happiness of mankind." Sounds like Marx, Engels, Lenin — doesn't it? Watch out N. H.! Here come the snooping Un-Americans!

Truman Leaves For Michigan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (UP). — President Truman leaves by train for Michigan today where he will launch his formal Presidential campaign in a five-speech Labor Day swing.

He and his party board the Presidential train at Union Station at 3:30 p.m., for the overnight run to Grand Rapids, Mich., and the first address in his bid for a full four-year White House term.

After another "quickie" speech in Lansing, the president will move on to Detroit and the major talk of his tour — a 20-minute extemporaneous address before a joint CIO-AFL rally in Cadillac Square that will be broadcast to the nation.

VIRGIL—All In the Game

By Len Kleis

Capital Youth

girl asked. Before Nonny could answer, a burly cop broke in.

"Them that talk about Jimcrow are the people who want to take your swimming pool away from you," he said. But Nonny set him right. "We want it so all the children can play here," she said.

The Negroes in the neighborhood rallied in support of the picket line. One man went to the corner grocery and bought a case of soda pop for the pickets. Housewives sent out pitchers of lemonade and ice water.

The YPA decided they'd try again the next Saturday, with a group of Negro and white youth who would seek the right to play softball together.

To win white support, they cruised the adjoining white neighborhood with a sound truck on Wednesday night, Sept. 1. A caravan of five or six automobiles trailed the sound truck, blowing their horns continuously to drown out the words of unity. When the YPA truck stopped at 18th and D Streets to hold a rally, a crowd of 150 gathered. Some were hostile.

They yelled "Jew bastard" and "N-----r lover" at the young people. Rocks were hurled. A girl, a YPA'er, was struck and her clothes torn. The police arrived and ordered the young people away. If they stayed it would be "incitement to violence."

The next night, the Young Progressives were back at it. And the next night. And the next.

Meanwhile, the committee has finally secured an appointment with Harry S. Wendern, chairman of the joint recreation board, after weeks of the old run-around.

Top TWU Board Rejects Truman, Rebukes Quill

meeting of the bus division of Local 100 on Thursday where, he said, he will press for approval of a ban on participation in Local 100 meetings and affairs of John Santo, director of organization and Douglas MacMahon, international secretary-treasurer.

Local 100's executive board voted to bar the two from subsequent meetings at its session Saturday.

Following yesterday's international board meeting, MacMahon declared: "If Quill wants to take his endorsement of Truman to the membership, he can have that pleasure."

WON'T SUCCEED

Of the Quill clique's efforts to oust him from participation in Local 100 affairs, MacMahon, a Communist and one of the chief targets of Quill's red-baiting drive, declared:

"I don't think Mike Quill's efforts to oust me will succeed at all. I think he's barking up the wrong tree. I'm confident that the membership will base itself on my record of 14 years in helping build this union."

MacMahon added: "I will be a candidate for re-election and I expect that the workers will re-elect me." Santo also indicated he will run again for his present post.

If the referendum on direct election of officers goes through, nominations would be made at the next convention, to be held within months, with balloting by the membership to follow.

Quill told reporters he favored the referendum resolution, introduced by MacMahon, but, with the proviso that the elections be held not 40 days after the convention, and be held before the end of the year.

QUILL HEDGES

It was apparent that while Quill could not readily vote against a measure to democratize the TWU election procedures, his time restriction would have made it probably impossible to carry out.

The resolution on Truman declared:

"We cannot accept the election year promises of Democratic machine politicians when the three year record of the Truman Administration gives the lie to these promises. We cannot accept the existence of Truman's alleged liberal 'New Look.' We cannot support a candidate who has proven himself to be the biggest strikebreaker of any President in American history.

"We cannot support Harry Truman because his record amply demonstrates that he opened the floodgates for the wave of anti-labor reaction that has taken hold in the last three years."

ASSAILS DEWEY, TOO

The resolution also assailed Dewey and the Republican Party as "steeped in the administration's bipartisan policies of third world war hysteria, redbaiting, severe restrictions on labor unions and a Mundt-Nixon-like police state."

It is the Truman administration, the resolution charged, "which continues Jimcrow in the armed forces, and is responsible for the loyalty purge and deportation actions against militant trade unionists like TWU organization director John Santo."

In its rebuke to the Local 100 board for forcing resignations from the ALP, the TWU board declared:

"We in the labor movement cannot hope to stem this fascist tide, if, while proclaiming our devotion to the freedoms guaranteed by the Bill of Rights, we nevertheless trample upon those freedoms within our own ranks. We cannot declare in one breath that union members are entitled to complete freedom of political belief and action, while at the same time we denounce them and threaten to punish them for exercising those very rights. In short, we cannot effectively combat a Taft-Hartley Act while at the same time practicing Taft-Hartleyism in our own union."

The TWU board is expected to conclude its special session today (Monday). Major business before the board will be the designation of the time and place of the next international convention.

is included in 461 contracts. The employer pays either the entire or part of the cost.

EMPLOYMENT DROPS

Material shortages and extension of monopolies which resulted in liquidation of 77 companies, contributed to layoffs and the cut of 42,000 in employment in the industry, the officers said.

But most important, they added, "has been the drying up of consumers' purchasing power by corporation profiteering." They sharply criticized "an employer-mined Congress" and its bi-partisan policies for legislation furthering the drop in living standards.

"Not satisfied with profitable arms and Marshall Plan contracts arising out of the 'cold war,' these corporations are also using the shortages created by it to increase their record-breaking profits."

NOTE PROFITS

They noted profits are running at an annual rate of 19.7 billion.

"In the meantime," they continued, "Speed-up in the shops and new machines meant that the average worker in the major companies of the electrical industry was turning out 35 percent more products at the end of 1947 than in 1940."

Not since depression days has there been such a big drop in real wages as in the three 1944-47 years. They dropped 16 percent, the officers said. The recent wage gains have only partly offset the loss, they stressed.

The convention is expected to provide the usual fireworks, with a minority headed by James B. Carey carrying the ball for the red-baiters. This year the Kersten Committee of the House sought to bolster Carey's fortunes with a witch-hunt hearing four days before the opening at which Carey received a chance to sound off against the UE's administration.

The convention will meet through Friday.

PENNSY NEGRO EMPLOYEES ASK REHEARING ON BIAS

Seven Negro employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad, charging company job bias, asked the New York State Commission Against Discrimination last Friday to reverse the recent decision of Commissioner Elmer A. Carter which favored the company and dismissed their complaint against being demoted.

The seven men, who have been employed for periods of 10 to 22 years, had been working as coach cleaners until 1941, when restrictions against upgrading of Negroes were lifted.

In 1941 they became assistant mechanics, and then became mechanics. After the war, white veterans, who prior to induction had been employed for a few months as coach cleaners, were rehired as mechanics, replacing senior Negro employees who were demoted.

Carter, sole Negro member of the SCAD, and a Dewey appointee, conducted the investigation, and decided on July 13, 1948, that there was no "probable cause to credit the allegations" of bias.

The seven demoted workers are asking for a rehearing before the entire commission.

The men making the complaint are Thomas J. Byrd, Walter Sutherland, C. W. Willy, Jr., James E. Jones, Robert G. Ellis, Cyril E. Johnson and Thomas H. Davenport, all employed in the repair shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Rap State CIO 'Rump Parley'

Officers of the State CIO Council are accused of using official union machinery to organize a rump meeting Sept. 10 of individual union officers "of a single political view," and of promoting dissension and disunity in CIO, in a resolution sent yesterday to the State CIO by the Greater New York CIO Council.

The resolution was adopted at a regular meeting of the Greater New York CIO Council. It was introduced by a delegate of Local 430, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America.

a 25-cent hourly increase and a welfare fund of 5 percent of the payroll.

FOOD BEING DELIVERED

Newspaper claims that the strike would create a serious food shortage in the city with the return of holiday crowds did not hold much water, since local 202 members, whose contract does not expire until late in 1949, were delivering to independent stores.

The American Can Co. stopped production of its Brooklyn paper milk container plant, and the Commerce and Industry Association tried to create alarm with a prediction that some 1,800,000 workers in the Metropolitan area may be laid off if the strike continues.

The McLean Trucking Co. of Winston-Salem, N. C., meanwhile had invoked the Taft-Hartley Law against local 807, charging it with violating the secondary-boycott clause. The company filed suit in U.S. District Court Saturday, charging that its trucks were stopped by pickets Thursday at the entrance to the Holland tunnel.

John Strong, local 807 president, and Thomas Hickey, secretary-treasurer, were not available to receive the complaint.

The New York CIO Council sent a message of support to 807, declaring:

"The fight of CIO members here for better wages and living standards is strengthened by your united, militant action, your refusal to knuckle under to Taft-Hartley intimidation and state charges of Communist influences. Best wishes for a speedy, victorious outcome of your strike."

Truman

hoodwink non-New Yorkers that his GOP-dominated legislature didn't pass the Condon-Wadlin strangehold bill against civil service workers.

Both Presidential rivals agreed on one thing, and that was injecting red-baiting into labor's affairs. Truman did this by quoting that part of the Democratic platform which pledges to "enable unions to keep their memberships free of communist influence." Dewey talked about "those who accept a foreign ideology," and declared that Republicans will work "with the responsible leadership of the AFL."

Murray

150 delegates recessed their session until further notice.

Great stress was laid by the Germer-Reuther-Murray forces in their rump gathering that "this CIO convention is the one that will represent CIO in the Labor Day parade when President Truman speaks here Labor Day."

Hundreds of protests by wire and letter were pouring into Murray's office at Pittsburgh from delegates and local unions and rank and file members here protesting the Homer Martin seizure of a CIO county council and the splitting of 400,000 CIO members in Detroit.

Next to agricultural products, fisheries produce the most important source of food for man.

come to Memphis and has spoken to this unsegregated audience." He was applauded generously. He expressed the thought that if Abraham Lincoln had been able to tour the South as Henry Wallace now is doing "there might never have been a Civil War."
The hecklers called for "Dixie" and Pete Seeger played it for them. They let out a few boos for their own selection after it was finished, tossed a few stones in the direction of the speakers' stand — and drifted out of the park.
Many members of the audience stood around in small groups to discuss what they had just heard.

Wallace

Durr. His first chance to hit at segregation and polltaxes, he said, had come in 1944 at the Democratic National Convention. He was applauded when he declared: "I said then: 'Poll taxes must go!' and I say again: 'Poll taxes must go!'"

TALKS OVER RADIO

At Murfreesboro, between Nashville and Knoxville, an unscheduled stop was made when the local radio station, WGNB, interrupted its set program and invited Wallace to address local citizens through its facilities. Wallace delivered an informal radio talk on some of the local problems affecting dairy farming, increasing corn yield and the development of cheaper fertilizer.
At another Tennessee farming community, McMinnville, three local men—two whites and one Negro—came aboard the bus to shake Wallace's hand. They told Wallace that most of the people in the town were for him.

Today's Film:

Quickie Switches Sex to Red-Baiting

By Herb Tank

I NEVER THOUGHT that Soviet baiting would take the place of sex with quickie, two-bit film producers, but apparently it has. Alert to the switch in tabloid headlines from exposed love nests to beating the war drums, the small time quickie producers have switched from topics like Sex Secrets Revealed, to Sofia, City of Intrigue, a Film Classics release now at the Rialto. Whether this puts the two-bit producers in a class with Zanuck—after all he was first with The Iron Curtain—or whether this puts Zanuck in the same class with the quickie entrepreneurs, I'm not exactly certain. At any rate it indicates the tiny gulf that separates a big time operator from the small time. It also goes to show that America is still a land of opportunity—for sex and Soviet baiting anyway.

THE BOYS in charge of Sofia have unashamedly borrowed the same selling technique for this anti-Soviet film as they once used on the sex-flickers. The ads are crammed full of stuff that has no bearing whatever on the film. The characters who drooled at the ads of the sex-flickers, and then were frustrated by the films because the girls never stripped beyond their slips, will be just as disappointed with Sofia. Soviet-baiting will never take the place of burlesque.

Sofia is a spy film about as up to date as a silent flicker. It concerns an American who spies quite honorably in the Balkans. Because the boys were in such a hurry to get the film out I think they misplaced quite a few of the scenes. The first half of the film is pretty strange. You can't tell one spy from another without a scorecard. The second half of the film, if anybody wants to stay that long, is just plain simple. It has all the finesse of a headline in The Hobe News. The oddest thing in the latter part of the film is a character who looks and acts like a female impersonator, or a male impersonator. It's a little hard to put your finger on which. This person, who often walks around with a whip in his, or her (?) hand, is supposed to represent a high government official in the Balkans.

THE WRITING, the direction, the performances by Gene Raymond, Sigrid Gurie, and Mischa Auer, are as punk as these things invariably are in pictures released by this Film Classics, Inc. outfit. Since the movies handled by Film Classics have been so incredibly bad this department seldom bothers to review them. The last one we caught was also an irresponsible item that was advertised as "torn from the secret files of the United Nations." The United Nations promptly sent out a release to the press repudiating the film. Sofia is much more deserving of United Nations action.

'Ruthless' Does an Orson, But Badly

TAKE the imagination, understanding, clever direction, adroit camera work, and good performances out of Orson Welles' Citizen Kane and you would probably be left with something resembling the current screen offering at the Gotham, Ruthless, an Eagle Lions release. Based on the novel Prelude to Night by Dayton Stoddard and adapted for the screen by S. K. Lauren and Gordon Kahn, Ruthless tells a Dreiser-like yarn about a big financier who gains power and wealth only to lose his soul.

RUTHLESS. Eagle Lions Release. A Producing Artists Production. Produced by Arthur S. Lyons. Directed by Edgar G. Ulmer. Screenplay by S. K. Lauren and Gordon Kahn. Based on the novel Prelude to Night by Dayton Stoddard. With Zachary Scott, Louis Hayward, Diana Lynn, Sydney Greenstreet, Lucille Bremer and Martha Vickers. At the Gotham.

The film unfolds flashback fashion to tell the story of ruthless tycoon Zachary Scott and how he got that way. It is not a good film and the reasons for it begin with the script and continue through direction, performances and lensing. The script is a rambling, episodic affair that seems to have been written from the angle of giving Zachary Scott a chance to make like Orson. Orson does it much better. The direction is dull and obvious. Ditto for the camera work.

WHEN SCOTT isn't hogging the camera Louis Hayward, Diana Lynn and Lucille Bremer go through their paces in somewhat uncertain fashion. Less uncertain however is big Sydney Greenstreet, as lusty a ham as ever faced a camera, who portrays another tycoon ruined in the process by the film's protagonist. Most interesting thing about Ruthless is that Sydney Greenstreet does two things in the film we really never expected to see him do: the first is to play love scenes, and the second is to get involved physically in a typical Hollywood fight scene.

What Ruthless lacks most is suggested by the title: ruthless writing, direction, and particularly ruthless cutting.—H. T.

Eric Johnston Socialism, Sex & Flip Flops

By David Platt

BET They Wished they Hadn't Said That Department: "As long as I live I will never be a party to anything as un-American as a blacklist. Any statement purporting to quote me as agreeing to a blacklist is a libel upon me as a loyal American." Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Producers Association, a few weeks before he agreed to blacklisting the Hollywood Ten. (From the book "Hollywood on Trial").

I AM willing to be a Socialist or Communist or anything else if it will bring happiness and security and a continuance of the high standard of living which our workmen have enjoyed in this country for 150 years. Everyone has the right to try for peace and happiness. If Bolshevism is the road toward this I am willing to be a Bolshevik. Louis B. Mayer, MGM executive producer, Los Angeles Breakfast Club, April 4, 1935.

I THINK as a whole sex is exaggerated. Plato and Euripides and many before them said all there is to say about sex.—David Wark Griffith, Colliers, May, 1924.

MY CANDID opinion is that there never will be a time when the "all-talkie" will surpass the silent drama at the box-office.—Sam Sax, President, Gotham Productions, Motion Picture Herald, August, 1928.

THE day we seek to block the expression of dissent, the voice of opposition in America, that day we lose something fundamental to the future well-being and strength of the American people.—Harold Stassen, shortly before he announced he was in favor of outlawing the Communist Party of the U.S. (From the book "Hollywood on Trial").

Winter Garden's 'Larceny' Petty

LARCENY. Universal-International Release. Screenplay by Herbert F. Margolis, Louis Morheim, and William Bowers. From the novel The Velvet Fleece by Lois Eby and John Fleming. Directed by George Sherman. Produced by Leonard Goldstein. With John Payne, Joan Caulfield, Dan Duryea and Shelley Winters. At the Winter Garden.

THE new film at the Winter Garden, a melodrama neatly and aptly titled Larceny, is notable only for its incredibly bad taste. Accepting real money in exchange for a peek at this film is exactly what the title implies.

Plot concerns a group of confidence men who promote a phony war memorial in a wealthy California town. The deal is pulled by having one of the con men (the pretty one) pose as the war buddy of the town's dead hero. Part of the trick is to get the con-man to make love to the war hero's widow. Not part of the trick, and the fly in the plot's ointment, is boss man Dan Duryea's gal, buxom Shelley Winters, who would rather have pretty boy John Payne make love to her for fun than make love to the war hero's widow Joan Caulfield, for money.

Justice triumphs awful late in this one.—H.T.

Around the Dial

Forces Lining Up For Battle of the Giveaways

By Bob Lauter

FACED BY THE THREAT of the FCC to ban giveaway radio shows on the basis that they are essentially lotteries, broadcasters are attempting to organize a defense of their divine right to distribute buckets of money, fridges, and electric toasters.

Radio Features, an outfit which owns Get Rich Quick, and Tello-Test, will battle the Commission on the proposed ban. Walter Schwimmer, president of Radio Features, has donned his armor and is coming forth as the St. Joan of broadcasters to defend telephone quiz giveaways. Schwimmer is attempting to organize the opposition to the F.C.C.

Harold Fair, program director for the National Association of Broadcasters, feels that the F.C.C. is going beyond its province in determining what is, and what is not, a lottery. Fair expects the F.C.C. to be defeated on its proposal, yet he has expressed his own fears that giveaways may, in the long run, hurt radio.

THE OPINIONS of broadcasters concerning giveaways are by no means unanimous. Many of them are convinced that radio will do itself more harm than good by contributing to the current giveaway craze. They feel that the preponderance of the giveaway show today may prove to be a dangerous boomerang.

IN ANY EVENT, telephone giveaway shows will be with us for a long time. The F.C.C. has granted until September 10 for the filing of briefs on this matter. The hearings which will follow are certain to be lengthy ones, and these may be superseded by legal actions.

ABC will file a brief in protest of the proposed ruling. ABC's show, Step the Music, is probably the most gigantic giveaway show on the air today.

Proctor and Gamble, which sponsors Truth or Consequences, has denied that they will file a similar brief.

AS MIGHT BE EXPECTED, the current Presidential campaign will make the greatest use of radio in history, and for the first time, television will play a part in the campaigning, although to a limited extent. In addition to the usual speeches, we will probably be treated to skits, jingles, and slogans, endlessly repeated, in the best of huckster tradition. The aerial political campaign will get under way after Labor Day.

UP IN TROY, NEW YORK, Jack Wandell of the WTRY news staff, who has recently conducted a nightly sports broadcast in addition to his other duties, has resigned his post.

Wandell, who is from Mechanicsville, resigned in order to devote his time to activities in behalf of the candidacy of Henry Wallace. He will broadcast on behalf of the Progressive Party slate.

Listeners interested in hearing the new Columbia Long Playing Microgroove records, which play up to 45 minutes on one face, may hear them over WQXR. This station began using some of the records on Aug. 21, and programs using Microgroove discs are scheduled for September.

'Don Juan's Loves' Pretty Tiresome

THE LOVES OF DON JUAN. Italian film with English titles. Directed by Dina Falconi. With Adriano Rimoldi. At the Golden.

EVERY now and then the foreign film studios prove that they too can make stinkers. Hollywood has no monopoly on this department, although I do believe they manage to outnumber the rest combined. Last week the French sent us a bad one called The Honorable Catherine and now the Italians have submitted an entry in the stinker derby called The Loves of Don Juan. It is heavy handed, theatrical, tiresome and tedious, and it's playing at the Golden.

I never really thought that a series of love affairs could prove monotonous but they do. As the active agent of the title Adriano Rimoldi turns in a painfully embarrassing performance. Nuff said.—H.T.

The 31st season of the "Y" School of Music will begin on Monday, Sept. 20. Registration for the coming year will take place on Sept. 13 and 14 for former students and on the 15th and 16th for new students. New faculty members include Zenka Stayna, voice; Joseph Bernstein and Charlotte Rosen, violin; Harry Freistadt, trumpet; Hedda Ballon, two-piano and theory.

DODGERS EDGE GIANTS IN 12; YANKS WIN EIGHTH STRAIGHT

Shuba's Pinch Clout Decides 4-3 Thriller

When big Johnny Mize hit his second home run of the game to give the Giants a 3-1 lead in the top of the 12th it looked like a cataclysmic clean sweep of the four-game series to the season's biggest crowd at Ebbets Field yesterday. But the Dodgers, fighting to stay within two games of the league leading Boston Braves, who had already posted their victory on the scoreboard, and striving to break the hypnotic spell Leo Durocher has cast over them as a Giant manager, fought back.

Marvin Rackley worked a walk from the tiring young Monte Kennedy, who had pitched masterfully, and Durocher promptly summoned Dave Koslo, who had relieved successfully twice in this series. Tommy Brown, hitting for Preacher Roe, dumped a single over the infield and Billy Cox lined another hit to left to fill the bases with none away as a goodly part of 35,750 crowd went slightly mad.

Eddie Miksis, playing second for Jackie Robinson, who had been ejected by ump Goetz for protesting a called third strike in the 10th, tapped to Koslo, who flipped it nicely to the plate for a force play. Then Dave lost his control and walked Reese to force over a run and make it 3-2. Righthander Ray Poat came in and Shotton countered with Arky Vaughan, batting for Bruce Edwards.

When Vaughan popped for the second out it looked like the dismal end. But rookie George Shuba, sent up to hit to Furillo, went ahead 3-0 and then crowned the next pitch high and far off the right-center field screen to score Cox and Miksis with the deciding runs in the 4-3 triumph and produce the most delicious finish since Cookie Lavagetto's World Series double beat the Yanks.

IT HAD BEEN a scintillating pitching battle between Kennedy and Preacher Roe, angular left-hander with two straight shutouts behind him. Mize had put the Giants ahead 1-0 in the 4th when he blasted his 33rd round tripper over the right field wall.

Kennedy held this slight lead grimly till the 8th. Robinson tripped with one away in the first and was left, and stretched a two out single into a double in the 6th only to die on the bases again. Edwards had singled twice and that was the Dodger offense.

Then came the 8th. Pete Reiser, who has been phenomenally successful as a pinch hitter, batted for Hermanski and walked to lead off the frame. Roe struck out trying to bunt the run into scoring position, but Cox delivered a triple off the rightfield wall to score Reiser with the tying tally. Here Kennedy bore down to get the two batters who had rapped him earlier, Robinson on a pop and Edwards on an easy fly.

Mize riddled a line drive off the wall in the 9th but was out trying for second when Furillo unleashed one of his superspecial throws. Carl in turn singled in the Dodger half and was sacrificed down but neither Rackley nor Roe could deliver.

And finally the climactic 12th, with Mize blasting number 34 out of sight with Lockman on base as the result of a single, and the surprise Brooklyn counter-attack for three runs.

ROE CAME WITHIN one strike-out of the modern record of seven in a row help, among others, by Brooklyn hurlers Vance and Mungo. He whiffed Cooper, Thomson and Kerr in the 5th, Kennedy, Lohrke and Lockman in the 6th. Sid Gordon's fly to open the 7th broke the string . . . the Dodgers had gone 17 scoreless innings before Reiser dented the plate . . . Campanella threw out two attempted stealers in the 8th . . . Branca and the returned Harry Taylor face the Braves at Boston today.

NIP NATS 5-3, DI MAG STARS

Fighting to keep pace with the league leading Boston Red Sox, the fast-moving New York Yankees scored twice in the sixth inning yesterday to defeat the Washington Senators, 5 to 3, for their eighth straight triumph.

A crowd of 24,655 saw Joe DiMaggio wallop his 33rd home run and a double which started the winning rally to pace the Yanks as they remained within striking distance of the Red Sox, who still hold a half-game first place edge.

With the score knotted, 3-3, and two away in the sixth, DiMaggio, trying to avoid one of Sid Hudson's pitches, accidentally poked the ball into short right field for two bases. Berra scored DiMaggio with a triple down the left field line and dashed home with the insurance tally on Rizzuto's hit.

Allie Reynolds started for the winners and allowed single runs in the second, third and fifth before Joe Page replaced him with two on in the sixth. Page hurled one-hit ball the rest of the way to gain his fourth win.

DiMaggio poled his four-bagger to open the Yanks' second and they wrenched two more from Hudson in the third on Niarhos' single, a double by Stirnweiss, and Henrich's two-bagger, which chased home both runners.

GRID YANKS UPSET

BALTIMORE, Sept. 5.—The N.Y. Yankees, Eastern champs of the All-America grid conference, were swept off their feet in a stunning upset here today, 45-28 before 31,800 fans by the record passing of rookie Y.A. Tittle of Louisiana State.

Hanging Out the Monday Wash

FROM ELITORIAL in New York Times of Saturday: "The turf courts of the West Side Club in Forest Hills will echo to the sharp slashing of tennis ball against racquet this holiday week-end as the outstanding netmen of this country and Australia renew their rivalry in the Davis Cup Challenge Round. . . ."

It should be exceedingly interesting for Messrs. Jack Kramer and Bobby Riggs to learn that Parker, Schroeder, Talbert and Mulloy are "the outstanding netmen of this country." For that matter it should be equally illuminating information to the Messrs. Parker, Schroeder, Talbert and Mulloy, a competent amateur quartet who by no stretch of the imagination could molest the play for pay boys, Kramer and Riggs. Not even with copies of the august New York Times' editorial attached to their racquets.

GIANT WRITERS coming back from the West report that Leo Durocher is a smiling, totally affable personality. He must be almost unbearably angelic after beating the Dodgers four out of four (before yesterday) since changing suits. . . . Go Figure It Dept': Hank Borowy, who came within one pitch of a perfect game immortality against the Dodgers last week, took the mound yesterday at Pittsburgh and staggered off in the 2nd six runs behind! . . .

SID GORDON has a large retinue of personal rooters from around his native Brownsville in Brooklyn who are torn two ways every time he brandishes that big bat against the Dodgers. They try to reach the delicate balance of hoping that Sid "does all right" but the Dodgers win anyhow. Doesn't work, for when Sid "does all right," he more often than not wrecks the Dodgers. . . .

Sid has replaced the retired Hank Greenberg as the outstanding Jewish-American big leaguer. Next year Cleveland brings up Al Rosen, a young clouter rated the top infield prospect in the minors, one bearing the label "can't miss." Another topflight Jewish-American prospect belongs to Brooklyn. He is Irv Noren of the pennant winning Fort Worth club, a fleet outfielder just voted outstanding player in the Texas League. He may move up for a year in Montreal, the top AA club in the Dodger chain.

JOE LOUIS has finally and conclusively turned down tremendous pressure from both the Truman and Dewey camps to come out for one of the old party candidates.

ONLY 3,000 fans turned out for last Thursday night's Garden fight between Tommy Bell and Doug Ratford. The well is running dry for Twentieth Century with Louis retired and the enterprising Tournament of Champions grabbing off most of the reasonably attractive offerings. The Stadium card of Williams-Flores, Robinson-Gavilan, booked to compete with T. of C's Cerdan-Zale title match, isn't likely to replenish the coffers. While Robinson is of course the outstanding fighter in the business, he is now actually a middleweight getting the beginning of a classic stall, and the welterweight crown will not be on the line against Gavilan. And the prices are still much too high.

WITH VACATION time over, the Daily Worker sports department goes back to two full pages daily starting tomorrow, with Bill Mardo back in action. We'll be getting into the dugouts to bring you the full excitement of the last few weeks of these heart stopping pennant races.

LATE P. S.—Barney Shotton is a little more affable than Leo Durocher today. Ever a race like this one?

Talbert, Mulloy Beat Aussies In 4 Sets, Keep Cup in U. S.

The United States kept possession of the Davis Cup yesterday when Billy Talbert and Gardner Mulloy beat Billy Sidwell and Colin Long of Australia, 8-6, 9-7, 2-6, 7-5 in the clinching double match of the challenge round.

This double victory, before 6,000 in the West Side Tennis Stadium, was the third watch won by the Americans in the best three-of-five series. Saturday, Ted Schroeder and Frank Parker won the two opening singles matches. Today's two concluding singles contests will be mere routine.
